I have saved the weights in fileweight.csv. I want to concatenate the records so that the data looks like: Dog Weight Dog1 3435.58 Dog2 3482.99 Dog3 3546.45 ... Dog8 3718.38 Note that the dog numbers in fileweight.csv can be changed depending on how many files are available. I have tried with mapply, however it runs out of memory as the number of files is around 8000. mapply(function(w1, w2, w3, w4, w5, w6, w7, w8){ write.table(cbind(w1,

However, despite the lack of cure, treatment of these diseases has been in a prolonged state of arrested development in which the effectiveness of the drugs has been obscured by a profusion of ineffective and toxic drugs. The objective of this project is to discover safe and potent compounds that are effective in animal models of IBD, and to assess the compounds for efficacy in humans. This project is being led by a Core that will standardize and characterize the compounds that we develop. Dr. John Trevaskis will lead this Core. We have identified potentially potent compounds in the literature but we have not developed a reproducible and tractable screening system for compounds. Our plan is to modify a well established drug metabolism screen using differentiated human intestinal epithelial cells to identify compounds that might be lead compounds for future clinical development. The plan builds on our work to develop a human intestinal epithelial cell culture to allow for a comparative approach to identify compounds that are promising in vitro and in vivo.Getty Images Former Packers coach Mike Sherman once said that, if there was a Super Bowl in Houston, players from his team wouldn't go there. Apparently, that wasn't why they didn't go there. Sherman said they went to Florida. Jason Wright of Footballguys.com reports that
